BRIEF MENTION.

DOCTOR TISDALE treats Diseases of the Skin, Nervous Diseases, etc. SMALL BUT SMART.-Last Thursday the little Robbie came up from Puuloa to Honolulu in just one hour-a distance of over eight miles. Bap Roads .- A correspondent at Ewa on this island, complains of the bad condition of the roads between that district and Honolulu, and declares that they are in a worse state of repair than ever before known.

and improved methods of photography and retouching, Mr. A. A. Montano has recently produced some very handsome and lifelike pictures at his gallery. corner of Fort and King streets. Festival of All Saints, instituted A. D. 731 by Gregory III. " to the memory of all martyrs and Saints."

In the year 834, Gregory 1V. removed the feast from the month of May to the season of its

present celebration, the first day of November. It is very interesting to contrast the Rev. Editor of the Friend's account of his visit to Portland in 1849 with the description of that place from the pen of our recent tourist Rev. Alexander Mackintosh, whose entertaining narrative is now being published in this journal. Portland has evidently marched with giant strides in those eight and twenty years.

CHANGE OF TIME.-The Band will play until further notice, at Emma Square, at four o'clock p. m. every Saturday, instead of half-past four. Following is the programme for this afternoon:

THE MOONS OF MARS.-The October number of the American Journal of Science and Arts, received by last mail. publishes a letter of Professor Daniel Kirkwood to the Editor, on this subject. He adverts to the fact that the inner satellites complete their orbital revolutions in less than a Martial day. A day of Mars is 24 hours, 37 minutes 22 seconds and a little less than 4 of a second of our own time. In 7 hours and 38 minutes, on orbital revolution is made by one of these moons round Mars, or three in less than a Martial day.

SALMON OVA .-- By the last mail steamer from San Francisco, Mr. A. W. Bush of the firm of Friel & Bush, received a number of thousand salmon eggs, from Mr. B. B. Redding, one of the Fish commissioners of the State of California (and also connected with the Central Pacific Railroad.) These were placed without delay in a pond at Ewa, about 14 miles from town, and in a few days the salmon began to appear, being now entirely hatched, with a very small per centage of loss. The trout ova, previously sent by Mr. Reddingwas also successfully batched, and the young strangers have been placed in the stream of Waipahu, where they appear to be thriving. With the salmon, which as is well known is a deep water fish, returning annually to its spawning place, it is proposed,-if the experiment turns out a success,-to stock our principal island rivers. The benefit that would thus result to the country at large is too evident to require any argument, and the thanks of our people are due to both Mr. Redding and Mr. Bush for their efforts in this direction. It will remain for the Legislature at its next session to pass the necessary law for the protection of imported fishes. GONE TO GRASS.-In no disrespectful sense do we make the remark that our friend Captain E. D. Crane, for the past eight years the popular master of the Labaina packet Nettie Merrill, has at length actually gone to grass. He has retired from the sea, ern Europe allowed Constantinople to fall beneath and goes to reside as Manager of Mr. James Camp- the Ottoman Scimetar, without striking a blow to and goes to reside as Manager of Mr. James Campbell's estate at Ewa, Oahu. In that quiet sylvan save the intolerant Greek Empire of the East. The whose ages ranged from five to fifteen years, and the manner in which they acquitted themselves retreat, in full view of the "sounding sea," sur- same fanatical spirit now animates those Eastern rounded by his interesting family, he can enjoy two | Christians, as in the day when the last Paleologus consecutive watches below without fear of interruption by hoarse cries of " boom-guy!" " luff, you lubber, luff!" or " ready about!"

"Long has he voyaged o'er the stormy seas;
And what a heart-delight he feels at last,
So many toils, so many dangers past,
To view the port desired, he only knows
Who on the stormy deep for many a day
Hath tost aweary of his ocean way,
And watch'd all anxious every wind that blows." Capt. J. H. Hatfield, well-known in the island coasting trade as a careful and skillful sailor, succeeds Capt. Crane in the command of the Nettie Merrill,

-a vessel that in the matter of speed and the completeness of all her appointments, stands foremost of our coasting fleet of sailing vessels. at the Armory on Monday evening (as per previous notice) for the purpose of making arrangements for the celebration of the King's birth-day, which occurs on the 16th inst., a Programme for a Regatta, &c. was adopted, and requisite committees and officers were appointed, as follows : Finance ; Gov. Dominis, Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, and A. Herbert. Arrangements: Gov. Dominis, W. L. Wilcox, Geo. Lucas. Starter : Capt. McIntyre. Judges : Capts. Babcock and J. H. Brown. Umpire: Capt. D. Smith. Secretary of the day: J. W. Robertson. The adjourned meeting will be held at the Armory

Merchant St., Honolelu. | this (Saturday) evening at 74 o'clock.

DOCTOR TISDALE gives special attention to the treatment of the Eve and Ear.

WE hear that there is some chance of a rifle shooting match being got up here by some amateurs of sharp practice at the butts.

THE LITURGIES of the Falishas of Abyssinia have been published in the original Æthiopic with a Hebrew translation, by Harlevy, who, in 1867, about the time of the Abyssinian Expedition, visited this singular people, a sort of Abyssinian Jews.

AT THE THEATRE a benefit to Mr. Harry Causland is given this evening. Mr. C. has been for many months a most deserving performer in his line of acting, and being desirous to leave by the next steamer for California, we bespeak for him a full house. Songs, dances, tricks, feats, &c., and a duet from Norma rendered by the unrivaled queens of opera. Mesdames Derbyana and Wesselini in a style such as it was never rendered before by either Nillson or Patti, will make the evening's performances of the higher walks of music.

AN OVATION.-Last Thursday on the departure for Labaina per Nettie Merrill of the newly married couple-Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell-the band was in attendance on the whart and played a number of appropriate airs, winding up with ' Auld Lang Syne." Mr. Henry Turton (proprietor of the Lahaina Sugar Estate,) and family, who have recently returned from Europe also were passengers by the Nettie, besides a large list of others. The wharf was crowded with the friends of the parties to bid them good-bye, and by native spectators. MONTHLY REPORT,-Of the Primary Department of the Fort Street School for the month ending October 31, 1877:

M. WEISTER, Teacher. NUMBER 10 of Mr. F. W. Damon's entertaining Rambles in the Old World" appears in the Friend's monthly issue for November. Those voices from Rhineland acquire additional sweetness and attractive charm, as they reach us month after month from the enchanting home of the Syren Lorley. Our own recollections of a traveler's adventures in the beauteous Rhenish Valley bring back dim visions of lovely maids with golden hair and soft blue eyes, before whose angelic goodness the seductive witchery of the mythical enchantress Lorley must fade like an ignis fatuus in the brilliance of the starry galaxy on high. We believe that the romantic Land of the Rhipe has not lost its reputation in this respect, and youth is a happy dream of romance. LAID UP .- On the last trip of the steamer Likelike to Kauai, when off Koloa,-another fan of her screw dropped off, leaving but one, the other two having been lost on ber first circuit of Hawaii. In consequence of being thus crippled, ALL SAINTS DAY .- Thursday last was the Church | the steamer did not arive from Nawiliwili until after 1 o'clock on Sunday. An order for a new screw was sent to San Francisco by mail steamer. and it is expected here by the steamer, of the 15th. It is hoped that within a week after the receipt of the new screw it will be in position, and the Likelike be enabled to leave for the circuit of Hawaii. It is bardly necessary to say that the entire community heartily sympathizes with Mr. Wilder, the owner of the steamer, in the unfortunate and vexations "laying up" of our beautiful and commodious "inter-island bridge," which is thus rendered imperative. A VERY DANIEL .- Recently in the court of one of the District Justices on the island of Kaualtwo Chinamen were brought up on a warrant charging them with selling intoxicating drink to natives. On the day set for trial the prosecution asked and obtained a postponement till next day on account of the absence of material witnesses. When the case was called on the succeeding day, native counsel for the defense asked for the dis charge of his clients, on the ground that the warrant of arrest required their attendance on a certain day and hour, and that they could not be legally tried on any other day. The learned udge (also a native) after a short deliberation, decided that the exception was well taken and ordered the discharge of the prisoners. "O wise udge! a very Daniel, come to judgment!" THE USE of obscene language and the practice of profane swearing are highly reprehensible, and should not be tolerated in any christian community. In some countries, as in Great Britain, fines and imprisonment are the penalties inflicted upon culprits, who are guilty of using obscene or profane language. In this country, there is a sad habit of profane cursing and swearing, and using filthy language; and while our authorities are giving effect to other laws which by desuctude have been considered as dead letters, we beg to call attention to Section 3 of Chap. 24 of the Penal Code, which reads as follows : " Whoever, having arrived at the age of discretion, profanely curses or swears. shall be punished by a fine from one to six dollars; but no prosecution for such offence shall be sustained, unless it shall be commenced within thirty days after the commission of the offence."

In a subsequent issue we propose to publish some extracts from a most interesting article in Harper's Monthly for October entitled, " From Brusa to Constantinople"-where the intelligent American traveler who writes, gives some very useful information about Turkey and Turks, which we advise all those who are blindly prejudiced against the Ozmaunlees to peruse for their own enlightenment. This remarkable writer justly admits: "But it is only fair to the Turks to allow them credit for the reforms they have attempted to accomplish, and for the fact that if some of these reforms had depended upon the fanaticism of the native Christians, little would have been done in this direction." Four and a quarter centuries ago almost, the Christian nations of Westdied in the ruins of his empire-as this enlightened American magazinist most correctly observes.

POLITICAL FORESHADOWINGS .- The following appears to be a foreshadowing of the European com. plications which our reports by last mall point to, as the probable result of the prolongation of the Russo-Turkish war : An alliance between Russia, the Prusso Germanic Empire and Italy; a rupture with Austria; a war of restoration in Italy with Spanish aid against Victor Emanuel; an attempt to restore the French Empire by a fusion of Imperialists and Royalists, which if successful, will be followed by a war a tout outrance against the HIS MAJESTY'S BIRTH-DAY .- At the meeting held | Prusso-Germanic power; neutrality of the Catholic German States; an attack by Holland and Denmark on the Prusso-Germanic Empire: an attempt of Sweden to recover Finland and the former Swedo-Baltic provinces from Russia; a revolution in Poland; a rising against the Russians in Caucasia and Turkistan; and, in fine, a policy of armed neutrality on the part of England, which may ulti-mately veer round to a temporary or even definite displayed at other islands where the rival factions are settled, the mischlet will be more serious than an are settled, the mischlet will be more serious than an are settled, the mischlet will be more serious than anticipated. The destruction of coconnut and breadtruit trees is a great evil; the nuts of the former, when made isto copra, are the chief staple of commerce, and the latter constitutes the chief staple of the vulgar principle of meuna and found among the Monarchs.

In TRANSIT.-During three days this week a house, which was being removed by native engineers from Beritania street to the upper part of Fort street, got "stalled" in some way on the corner opposite the Fort street church, and during those three days that portion of the public highway was effectually closed to all travel, except on foot. But then we have no city authorities to attend to such matters.

To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser : Sir : Refering to the recent Maori controversy in the newspaper world of Honolulu, I notice that nothing very definite has been arrived at as to the present condition of the Maori in his own country; and now come to the rescue with my testimony, which is of a decided nature and cannot truthfully be contradicted. I was formerly Travelling Reporter for the Daily Southern Cross, a leading Auckland journal, and on different occasions visited King Tawhio's country, the great stronghold of Maoridom; and from what I saw, have no hesitation in pronouna very entertaining medley, and a treat to lovers | cing the Maori a Worker. He carries on farming to a large extent, raises cattle, horses, sheep, bogs &c In Alexandra, the Maori market town situated on the borders of the lands confiscated by Great British, immense quantities of wheat and other produce is annually disposed of to the Pakeha (white man.) There are also flour mills, flax mills and farming implements of all kinds in the King's country, run entirely by natives. Another instance may also be given, taking an extract from a speech made by a Mr. McFarlane while running for a seat in Parliament; he said : "During the late civil war, employed 250 natives to work in my saw mills and timber lands; they were followers of the great Maori Warrior General Honeheka, but quit his ranks upon receiving an offer of good wages from me.'

> To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser : SIR-The arrest of Mr. Black for getting up steam on the tug Robbie on a Sunday and thus breaking the law, as it is claimed, by going out on pleasure on that day, leads me to ask a question-not for the sake of a just answer, for there is no justice in forbidding a person from using his own private property or in going on it or with his friends on Sunday, so long as he does not interfere with the rights of others-but it leads me, as I have said, to inquire whether it would not be as well and quite as proper to prevent the church-goer from driving to church on Sunday-which in that case is a pleasure, for all church-goers will confess it is a pleasure generally to attend church-as it is to prosecute Mr. Black from pursuing his own pleasure on that day. The days of the enforcement of "blue-laws" have passed in all enlightened countries, and the sooner the authorities here understand this the sooner they will cease to be the laughing-stock of those who are more liberally disposed towards their fellow-men. If one person is to be prevented from doing as he chooses to please himself innocently on the Sabbath, then I say, prevent all. Allow no conveyances to run on that day; cause every one to walk, whether it be to church or elsewhere; forbid people from kissing their wives or children on Sunday, and set spies to see that they don't do it-us was done in the olden time in Connecticut, the "good old days" one is always hearing about. And then-then we will have the millennium; but the average person will be very un-

> WONDERPEL stories are told of the doings of 'spirits' in various localities of the United States. The furniture of rooms is often tumbled about. feather beds are carried down stairs, loaves of bread burst into bits, tea caddies turn upside down, fly across the room and scatter the tea which they contain in all directions. Now, without having recourse to supernatural agency, it strikes us that many of these " prodigies" can be explained naturally. What keeps the particles that compose a loaf of bread together? A power in nature called the "attraction of cohesion." The same power keeps all the particles of matter of which this globe is composed together, and without it this globe would burst into pieces. We all have heard of earthquakes and some of us have felt them, they may be said to be mainly due to electric currents. If, then, a loaf of bread suddenly dances off a shelf and bursts into pieces, is it not quite possible that this may be caused by some electric influence unknown to us which destroys the "attraction of cohesion," of the particles composing the loaf? Again there is another power in nature called the attraction of gravitation, under the influence of which inert bodies rest stationary until put in motion. Here, also, unknown electric influences may temporarly counteract the attraction of gravitation of an inert body, such as a feather bed, and lift it up, carrying it down stairs from the garret to the cellar. Suppose a man drinks too much whiskey ; he often loses his center of gravity, and tumbles down and rolls about involuntarily, having no longer the control of his movements. This is the effect of an overcharge of electricity contained in the alcohol taken into his body; and in this case the electric influence is produced in an organic substance. Much in the same way, a man is thrown down by lighting or the discharge of an electric battery. The fact is, mankind are still almost completely ignorant of the unseen powers of nature. and superstition still holds a fearful grasp on the human mind; hence, any circumstance not immediately explicable according to our limited knowledge of the laws of nature, is ranked as supernatural. Just as eclipses are still thought to be the work of the Devil in many parts of the world. As for spiritualism, all those who believe in it sincerelyfor among spiritualists are impostors-are under the influence of a distempered imagination, like a drunkard or a madman, or a person delirious, or the devotee of a vision. The Imagination is a most dangerous faculty. New Zealand Items.

We copy the following from the Auckland Herald: A good deal of discussion has taken place in the House on the subject of malpractices in the obtaining of titles to land in the Hawke's Bay district. It is alleged that the signatures of natives were obtained to conveyances whilst the signers were drunk ; that natives were tempted to run into debt in order that they might be prosecuted, and so forced to sign conveyances. Mr. Ormond, the Minister of Public Works, is stated to have been connected with some of the worst cases. That the rebellion, or interaccine war among the natives, has been productive of much evil, the effects of which will be felt hereafter, is evident from the fact that on several islands of the group at some distance from Upolo, great destruction of occount and breadfruit trees has taken place, and at Savaai it is estimated that upwards of 25,000 trees have been wantouly destroyed.
